THE OPPORTUNITY WE SEE

- Social Impact has more active funding now than ever, with more potentially on the horizon.
 - There is greater concentrated wealth in the top 1%. New money is flowing into the impact space influencing expectations and a desire for innovation.
 - Increased pressure around putting philanthropic funds 'to work'.
- It is difficult to take large funds and break it down to actionable grass roots levels.
- Intermediary funds and/or organizations are being established to unlock large funds.

Proposed Model: An ecosystem approach using targeted development to address the wealth gap.

OUR UNIQUE VALUE →

We believe those closest to the issue of disenfranchisement are essential to designing interventions, although least resourced and enabled to do so. We ensure all neighbors have a seat at the table, as we work together to build solutions.
